Fr. Paul's Message

Dear Holy Redeemer,

What does it mean to speak from authority? What is authority? With regard to our Sunday readings, authority means God. Authority means to speak as God would have us, as God would in this place, at this moment, as if God was really present to us. The author of all life is truly present in his children, in Jesus Christ, and through Him, all of us.

Authority, tragically, can be a problem for many of us. All manner of behavioral disorders, relationship problems, having faith at all. Partly because when we don't believe in God, authority is not lived well in the home.

A recent study drew data from a nationwide survey of 19,000 Sunday church attendees from 112 Evangelical, Protestant, and Catholic congregations in 13 states. The research comes as marriage rates have dropped 31 percent since 2000 and 61 percent since 1970, while less than half of all adults under 30 today grew up in a home with married parents. According to the study, individuals who regularly attend church are more likely to have fathers present in their lives. In the U.S., approximately 80% of Sunday churchgoers were raised in homes where their biological parents were married to each other throughout their upbringing. Additionally, the study confirms that boys who grew up in homes with married parents are considerably more likely to attend church regularly as adults.

There is a reason for the decline in faith. It is the absence of a married home where Dad is warmly engaged in the life of his child. I think it shouldn't surprise us that when marriage and the family breaks down, it's a lot harder for a young person to understand that there's a Father in Heaven, 'who so loved [them] that He sent His Only Son to die for [them].' This becomes difficult when someone has never been able to relate to a dad, to authority, in a healthy way, if they perhaps hate their Dad or have a difficult relationship with their Dad.

The study predicts that the overall population of the religious "nones" is unlikely to stabilize until 25-30 years after the family structure has stabilized. So, what does that mean for us? Husband and wife, mother and father, believe in God, and a healthy understanding of authority. All these things are intertwined. We have our grand mission before us as a parish to form loving families and then from this all-good authority will flow through Christ our Lord.

Fr. Paul Ybarra, C.S.C.
